Little SECRETS
About CASH FLOW

Why Net Profits Don't Always Equal Good Cash Flow

Your CPA has your back with the IRS, and your bookkeeper knows what funds are going where, but who's got an extra set of eyes on the ever-elusive Cash Flow? Do you have an accurate understanding of the financial health of your practice? As a business owner, that's your job. You not only need to understand your business financials, but you need to understand how Cash Flow is helping or hurting your bottom line. Perhaps your practice is making a profit but you are still juggling vendor bills or not paying yourself as much as you want because the cash tap has run dry before the end of the month.

The information in this seminar will give you insightful philosophies around Cash Flow to help you find total empowerment over your business financials. Come learn some Dirty Little Secrets about Cash Flow at this complimentary seminar.

LECTURE HIGHLIGHTS:

- Why it's important to understand your financials from a Cash Flow perspective; different than a CPA's perspective.
- What the roles of your trusted advisors are in helping you manage Cash Flow (your CPA, Bookkeeper, Financial Advisor, Banker, Consultant).
- The different business components and processes that will help optimize Cash Flow.
- The dirty little secret about why you can still be making a profit but having trouble making payroll or juggling vendor bills.
- How to read your Profit and Loss and Balance Sheet from a CEO's perspective.
- What the difference is between total expenses, cash outlay, and production are in the context of Cash Flow.

FEATURED SPEAKER:

Debra Robinson is the President of Centennial Revenue Management. She has served as CEO of a multi-branch $40M company, which ranked #5 in revenue by Colorado Biz's 2001/2002 Top Women-Owned Businesses awards.

In 2008, Debra decided to bring her passion for Cash Flow management to other businesses, founding Centennial Revenue Management. She now uses her specialized Cash Flow Forecasting methodology to help dental offices optimize Cash Flow and educate doctors on how to understand their financials to avoid a financial storm.

SPONSOR INFO:

Advanced technology has reshaped and improved the efficiencies of countless industries, so shouldn't it do the same for your investment portfolio? Still, many advisers use outdated strategies like "Buy and Hold" to drive their investment decisions. We believe there is a better way. Our cutting-edge investment technology uses artificial intelligence to offer buy-and-sell recommendations with tremendous accuracy, running 6 million iterations every night to find opportunities for productivity and safety. As markets rapidly change, modern-thinking investors need a dedicated investment strategy that leverages the best technology has to offer.
